Rounds, of Chicago, will deliver an address at the M. E. church this evening. The ladies are enthusiastic and the exercises are unusually interesting.

—This from the Chicago Mail is delicate sarcasm. The paper is speaking of the noted pugilist: “Mr. John Lawrence Sullivan, of Boston, Mass., will be in Chicago all the week. It is understood that he desires to have his compliments conveyed to the newspaper men of this city, and to inform them that he can be seen at his hotel daily, between the hours of 3 and 5 o'clock p. m., when he will be glad to listen to any criticisms upon his personal or professional conduct they may have to offer.

Mr. Sullivan thinks that this opportunity will be embraced by the young men of the Chicago press who have heretofore found fault with him as a man, a pugilist, and a citizen. It is his opinion that he will be able to convince the young Chicago newspaper men in the course of one short interview that they have done him serious injury.

Articles touching upon his private life, which may be written for publication, can be read to him aloud. Or he will discuss their merits section by section, allowing one round to each paragraph.

Mr. Sullivan's invitation is as delicate as it is courteous, and we have no doubt but that there will be numerous calls made upon him by the brilliant young journalists of this city. Many of them have suggestions, no doubt, as to how Mr. Sullivan should behave himself when under the influence of liquor, which they are desirous of making to him in person.

With a good surgeon and a few pounds of raw beef within reach, and a squad of policemen in the corridor prepared to burst the door in if necessary, no well-built young newspaper of this city need fear to meet the Bostonian in joint debate.

We sincerely hope our contemporaries will see that they are represented at Mr. Sullivan's receptions. The Mail's reporters will be so busy during the week that they cannot avail themselves of Mr. Sullivan's kindness.

Our neighboring States in Central and South America are receiving considerable attention just now at the hands of HARPER'S MAGAZINE. In the November issue there will be a paper on “Guatemala,” illustrated. The process of landing at San Jose which is pictured as well as described might well discourage the pleasure-seeking traveler, who must climb from a tossing boat into an iron cage, which is hoisted by a dummy-engine to the level of the wharf, where its contents are unceremoniously dumped out. But the journey from the coast to the volcanoes is described as most interesting, through forests which are the native home of endless varieties of orchids; and the capital itself, five thousand feet above the sea, and surrounded by volcanic peaks of great height, is worth the trouble of reaching it.

An Ogle county paper reads the Sterling Gazette and some other live papers a lecture upon its enterprise in furnishing its readers the current local news, and insists that these daily chronicles tend to the demoralization of the people by familiarizing them with vice. This is a good one. Such lectures usually proceed from editors who are too lazy to run around for news, and find their excuse for idleness on moral grounds. The Gazette, as all its readers do know, has been as free as any religious paper, even, from objectionable literature of any kind. It makes it a rule not to publish that it would be ashamed for ladies of the homes of its owners to read, and it has never failed to condemn any and all tendencies to vicious literature. Nor does it at any time go into the sickening details of crime. When crime occurs, it publishes the fact, as it is its bounden duty. When a newspaper stops publishing the news, its mission is lost sight of and its only duty is to die.—Sterling Gazette.

“Any quail about this neighborhood?” inquired a tourist as he was about to register at a Lake George hotel.

“Quails?” said the proprietor with an indulgent smile, “they” have got to be a nuisance. The cook complains that he can't throw a piece of refuse toast out of the back window but that four or five fat quails fight to see which one shall lie down on it. Here, Front, show the gentleman to parlor A.”—New York Sun.

On settlement by the city council with the Water Works Company up to the first instant the authorities deducted over eight hundred dollars on account of lack of supply to North Dixon, and also on account of frozen hydrants last winter.

—The Rockford Register appears somewhat excited over the matter of locating the Soldiers' Home; and, indeed, if we may judge from the number of citizens from that town now at Springfield lobbying, the entire city is anxiously anticipating that the Home will be placed there. The Register has this item:

“Judge Eustace stated to our reporter this afternoon that the Soldiers' Home would go to either Dixon, Decatur, or Springfield, and all efforts for other places he believed would be in vain. If it came north Dixon would get it. He gave this on the authority of Commissioner Wallace, whom he saw yesterday. Dixon and Decatur each have three votes and Springfield one. He thought, however, the Springfield vote would go to Decatur, and that place of fever and ague would pick the plum. But you can't tell which way the cat will jump by the length of her tail and Rockford will not give up till the final verdict is reached.”

Bradford was well represented at the soldiers' re-union at Franklin Grove.

The administration is singularly blind to the wishes of the people, and singularly open-eyed to the interests of the bondholders. The financial policy that will commend itself to the nation, North and South, East and West, is to use all the money in the Treasury, gold, silver and greenbacks, down to the legal reserve, for paying the bonded debt, but not a single call for bonds has been made by this Democratic administration.

The pending campaign in Iowa is described as tame and spiritless. Apathy prevails in both parties, and the people stubbornly refuse to become excited.

Over $800,000 has been pledged for the establishment of a Roman Catholic university at Washington, and the projectors expect to have $1,000,000 accrued by Jan. 1. Work on the buildings will begin within a few weeks.

During the first two months of the current fiscal year the internal revenue receipts were less by $1,146,327 than during the corresponding period of the preceding fiscal year. The falling off is confined to the tax on distilled spirits, and is attributed to the seven months' extension of the bonded period ordered by Secretary McCulloch last winter.

The report that Lord Salisbury and Lord Churchill disapproved Lord Dufferin's policy respecting affairs in upper Burma is officially denied. King Theobald has made an arrogant and insulting reply to the note of the chief commissioner for British Burma, asking a suspension of the decree confiscating the property of the Bombay and Burmah Trading company.

The trouble in the Roman Catholic congregation of St. Joachim, at Detroit, has assumed a very serious phase. Tuesday night masked men, heavily armed, effected an entrance into the parochial residence and forcibly removed the objectionable priest, Father Dongelzer, therefrom, together with his assistant. The outrage has caused great excitement in Catholic circles at Detroit.

Payment of the claim of the state of Colorado for one-half the cost of taking the semi-decennial census has been withheld by the first comptroller of the treasury, on the ground that the state is indebted to the United States in a larger amount on account of the direct tax of Aug. 5, 1861. In auditing the claim of Dakota territory a deduction has been made on similar grounds.

What the Play Lacked.

[Chicago Herald.]

A manager said to me the other night, “There was a dramatist in New York who was asked by a certain ‘emotional’ actress to write her a new play—something that would have the tinge of originality upon it. He did so, as he thought, but it was rejected. He called upon the lady and asked what her objections were. ‘It will never do for me,’ she replied, in that sad way which is hers both on and off the stage. ‘Why?’ persisted the dramatist. ‘Why?’ echoed the actress. ‘You have a play here of four acts and yet there isn't a ‘My God’ or ‘Great Heavens’ in it anywhere. It's that ‘My God’ of mine which has made me all I am.’”

A SENATOR IN DOUBT.

OHIO LEGISLATIVE RETURNS COME IN VERY SLOWLY.

Hamilton County Said to Have Elected the Democratic Ticket—Both Parties Claiming the Legislature on Joint Ballot—Additional Election Figures—Fraud Charged.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 15.—Wednesday night the situation in Hamilton county was changed, and the jubilant spirits of the local Republicans had somewhat subsided. While it appeared early in the afternoon as if the major portion of the Republican ticket was elected, and members of the Duckworth club had conceded the victory to the other side, later returns indicate the election of the entire Democratic legislative and county ticket by pluralities ranging from 100 to 700, with the single exception of Kuhl for county commissioner. The returns, however, are incomplete, and there is a growing disposition on the part of Republicans to contest the election if the official count does not change the result.

The following telegram was received from the prohibition candidate for governor: "The prohibition vote is all that could reasonably be expected, and is large enough to hold a balance of power in future elections. The prohibition party is the only one that shows an increase over the vote of last fall. It has multiplied its vote by three, and will continue to grow. The next prohibition campaign in Ohio begins today."

The Enquirer says: "The Republican state ticket is elected by a plurality much smaller than the first claim of the Republican managers. Hamilton county is Democratic, notwithstanding the frauds committed by Republican leaders. The Democratic ticket is elected with the possible exception of treasurer and commissioner. The state senator is Democratic and there is a strong probability that the Democrats will have the legislature on joint ballot, though the majority will be small."

At 3:10 a. m. Richard Smith, editor of The Commercial Gazette said: "The legislature is Republican on joint ballot without this county, which is still undecided, owing to the neglect of judges in three precincts to count, but giving the Democrats all the registered votes in the boxes it would not change the result. The Hamilton county election will now have to be settled in the courts, it is feared."

PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 15.—A Cincinnati Commercial Gazette special says: Cleveland and its county are solidly Republican, a terrible blow to the Payne party. The whole of the Republican ticket in the state is elected by an average of 15,000 votes to spare. In Cincinnati and the county of Hamilton, the Democratic managers are holding back certain returns with the hope of doing things in such a way as to count in certain Democratic senators and house members. They will not succeed, as it is believed the result will probably stand in this county, that the Republican senators and representatives are elected with one exception, which will give both houses of the legislature to the Republican party, with John Sherman for United States senator. In this county, on the county ticket, the Democrats are successful in the most important offices.

An Appearance of Fraud.

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—The Times' Cincinnati special, dated 14th, says: There is a great deal of crooked work in connection with counting the returns of yesterday's vote in this city and at other points in the state where they were not counted last night. Republicans claim that the word has been given out to hold the ballots in the boxes till further orders. The claim is stoutly made that the Democrats have elected their legislative and county tickets. Nearly twenty precincts are still out. In one precinct in the Fourth ward counted last night 300 more votes were returned than registered. The Lincoln club, Republican, has gathered unofficial returns on the head of the ticket from all but three precincts—two in the Nineteenth ward and one in the country. These put Foraker 537 ahead, and so far the Republican legislative candidates have been running ahead of Foraker, indicating that the Republicans have elected their full delegation here.

One politician said to-night: "There will be some very curious doings in making up the count to-night," but refused to say more. The newspapers have collected all but fifteen precincts, but no one seems to know when the rest will be in or who will see them. In fact, it is hardly expected that anything more definite than is now known will be made public before the official count is made. There is much more outspoken indignation and threats of what is needed to purify the city of corruption than was voiced before the riot of last year. This is not confined to Republicans, but comes also from Democrats who care more for the purity of the ballot-box than for the success of their ticket. The Committee of One Hundred is denounced because it did not prevent frauds.

Said one citizen of high standing to-night: "I greatly fear that should provocation occur something fearful will happen. I see signs that may bring the most serious of trouble."

Both the Commercial Gazette and Enquirer openly charge the opposite party with fraud.

The Columbus Dispatch.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 15.—The chairman and other members of the Democratic and Republican state executive committees have been at their respective headquarters all day, endeavoring to cipher out a majority on either side on the legislature. There has been nothing unusual in the proceedings, with the exception that each has been claiming confidently that they have a majority on joint ballot. The Democratic committee steadily claim that they have carried the legislative ticket in Hamilton county, notwithstanding the figures sent out from Cincinnati, which indicated that the Republicans had elected their entire ticket with the exception of Harlan for representative. Counting Hamilton county solid, the Democratic committee claims the legislature on joint ballot, with 56 members in the house and 21 in the senate. They give nothing but general figures and refuse to name the counties in which it is claimed by the Republican committee the contests have been close.

The Republican committee claim a majority on joint ballot without Hamilton county, and also a working majority in each branch. Counting Hamilton for the Republican legislative ticket, and including half the other doubtful counties and districts, the Republican committee say the house will stand 71 Republicans to 39 Democrats, and the senate 24 Republicans to 13 Democrats.

In the fight and scheming for the legislature the plurality on the state ticket has been lost sight of, though it is believed it will reach 18,000, and the prohibition vote will be 23,000. One of the peculiar features of the vote is that it shows Hoody has run behind, which would indicate that a part of the defeat at least is caused by the dislike of his course. The chairman of the Democratic committee says the result was caused in the main from the second fact that the liquor men went back on the Democratic party, and he takes the result as an indication that they want a liquor tax similar to that of the Scott law. A member of this committee thinks a great many Democrats were dissatisfied with President Cleveland's policy, and concluded to express themselves at the first opportunity.

Governor Hoody himself says it was caused by the fact, in the first place, that Ohio is substantially a Republican state, and the contest followed a presidential campaign when the Republicans had a good majority, and it was too soon for the drift to turn the other way. He also thinks the fact that the Republicans, under the direction of John Sherman nominated liquor and saloon men in the majority of the cities for the legislature, made it impossible for the Democrats to give them the scare they did two years ago. He also thinks there was a general apathy on the part of the Democrats, which counted greatly in the cities where the principal Democratic losses are found to have been.

LATER.—Unofficial returns received up to 2 a. m. from nearly all the precincts canvassed since midnight make Foraker's plurality touch 21,000, with the rest of the ticket likely to exceed that, and give the prohibitionists 23,000 votes and the Greenbackers 2,000, on a total vote of over 700,000. The state committee claims that the legislature is Republican on joint ballot without the fourteen members from Hamilton county by at least five and probably nine. If Hamilton county is Democratic the senate would likely have one Democratic majority. With Hamilton county the Republicans would have a strong majority on joint ballot and a working majority in each branch.

Lucas County.

TOLEDO, Oct. 15.—Returns from Lucas county confirm the election of two Democratic state senators, one Democratic representative and one Republican representative—the latter being O. S. Brumbach, whom The Blade refused to support on account of his adherence to the liquor party. O'Neill, Democrat, for infirmity director, is also elected.

Something Unusual for Franklin.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 15.—The Republicans have elected two members of the house from this county. This is the first time in the history of the party that Franklin county elected a Republican to the legislature.

John Sherman's View.

MANSFIELD, Ohio, Oct. 15.—Senator Sherman, Wednesday night, said that he thought the Republican majority on joint ballot in the legislature would not be less than 12, without counting Hamilton county. He expressed some surprise at the delay in Hamilton county, but believed a fair return would be made, which would give the Republicans at least eight of the ten members of the house, and three out of the four members of the senate. He said: "The election is an emphatic protest against the fraud and violence in the south besides tending to settle the temperance question, and serving as a warning to the free trade element."

Little Interest in Washington.

WASHINGTON CITY, Oct. 15.—A lack of interest and the absence of the usual enthusiasm and excitement over the result of an election was everywhere apparent here Tuesday night. The returns were meagre and late coming in and only small groups assembled where they were bulletined.

A FAMOUS CHICAGO CASE.

Alleged Attempt to Secure an Estate with a Bogus Heiress.

CHICAGO, Oct. 15.—The famous "Baby Rollar case" came up again Wednesday in Judge Tuley's court on a supplementary proceeding instituted by the heirs-at-law on the allegation that additional evidence had been discovered showing that a strange baby had been substituted to figure as the child of the testator, Gottlieb Friedrich Wilhelm Kollar. The estate of the deceased was originally worth about $13,000, and was left in the will to Catharine Kollar, the mother; George R. Kollar, a brother, and Mathilde Rothfuss, a sister, of which $6,000 was in real estate and $7,000 in money and valuables; but almost half of this has been eaten up in controversy and money paid to the woman, Ida M. King, who claims to be the widow of the late Mr. Kollar. The baby in the case is Gertrude Frances Wilhelmina Kollar, alleged to have been born on June 23, 1883, as the result of the alleged marriage on May 6, 1877.

Mr. C. Blackburn Jones, a reputable lawyer, proved to be the sensational witness of the day. Under direction of the court he testified that Mrs. Kollar, or Ida King, had employed him in the early stages of the case to sue in her name for her individual benefit. Witness afterward became suspicious that his client was imposing on him and that her claims were false. He at last told him the whole conspiracy formed by her to gain possession of the Kollar estate; how she had made an arrangement with Mrs. Van Nornum to furnish her a baby when the proper time came, and that meanwhile she was to "pad," so as to have the appearance of a woman about to become a mother. She also admitted that she was never married to Kollar. All this she confessed after witness had made it plain to her he would not take her case unless she told the truth, and that she was in danger of the penitentiary if she came into court with perjured testimony. Mrs. Kollar denied that the child was a fraud, and frankly admitted that she had lied to Gen. Jones. The case is still before the court.

MAD MONARCH MILAN.

THE KING OF SERBIA BENT ON PRECIPITATING A CONFLICT

That May Light the Fires of War All Over Europe—Turkey Getting Her Dander Up and Preparing to Fight Against Dismemberment.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—A London cable to The Sun says: The rumor that King Milan of Serbia intends to issue a declaration of war at once is current in every capital of Europe, and it has wonderfully fanned the excitement over the situation in the east. The pretext upon which King Milan is expected to declare war against Bulgaria is, it is alleged, because Bulgarian agitators have for months been fomenting risings among the Servians on the frontier. King Milan has more than once remonstrated with Prince Alexander, of Bulgaria, and has demanded that the mischief-makers be interned. Promises to this effect have, it is said, been made by the Bulgarian government, but they remain unfulfilled. It is this omission that is to be made the pretext for a Serbian invasion of Bulgaria.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—The hopes entertained Tuesday night of a peaceful settlement of the Roumelian question have been shattered by the receipt of a dispatch from Constantinople stating that the conference has formally declared that the ports has disavowed the Bulgaro-Roumelian union. Further news is awaited with considerable anxiety.

It is reported that King Milan, of Serbia, has informed the powers that he must either go to war or abdicate his throne, and that he has decided to go to war. He has prepared a manifesto for his army, which it is expected will be issued immediately.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 15.—Great activity prevails in military circles throughout Turkey. Troops are being hastily armed and equipped for immediate service. The sultan has determined to fight against a further dismemberment of Turkey, and large bodies of troops are being rapidly concentrated on the frontier at strategic points, within easy striking distances of Bulgaria, Greece, and Serbia. Troops, horses, and field guns are being dispatched to the front night and day. The Moslems are enthusiastic and volunteering in large numbers.

The ports is awaiting the final reply of the powers before taking decisive action. A portion of the cabinet recommend the recognition of the Bulgarian union; others are of the opinion that Greece and Serbia will remain tranquil if the union is not recognized. The military party, viewing the silence of the powers as a sign that they are unagreed as to what course to pursue, urge that Bulgaria be invaded; that the great Balkans be occupied; that the Bulgarian town of Widdin be given to Serbia in order to weaken Bulgaria and conciliate Serbia, and that the district of Hermanli, Haokanli, and Pomak be seized as a wardenship. The sultan hesitates between these divergent counsels, leaning rather to a policy of conciliation. Meanwhile the military preparations are unabated. Krupp has been urged to hasten the delivery of guns, payment for which has been guaranteed. Everything indicates an early invasion of Bulgaria. In leading Turkish circles the opinion is expressed that the majority of the powers are inclined to refuse to recognize the Bulgarian union, as they consider that that course would be the least dangerous to European peace. The marquis de Naville, the French ambassador, and Herr von Radowitz, the German ambassador, express astonishment that the Turkish government did not send troops to Eastern Roumelia at the beginning of the trouble. The other foreign ministers are less outspoken.

Count Corti, the Italian ambassador, presided at the Roumelian conference Wednesday. The ambassadors sent their respective dragomans to inform the ports that they had agreed to condemn the violation of the Berlin treaty by the reunion of Roumelia and Bulgaria, and that they approved the pacific attitude of the ports.

Chamberlain and Goschen.

LONDON, Oct. 15.—Rt. Hon. Joseph Chamberlain, Radical, president of the board of trade, in the late Gladstone cabinet, speaking at Trowbridge, Wednesday, made a bitter attack upon Rt. Hon. George J. Goschen, member of parliament for Ripon, saying among other things that Mr. Goschen was, to the Liberals, what the death's head was to old Egyptian feasts. Mr. Goschen made a speech in Glasgow Wednesday evening, in which he stated that he would, as a Liberal, support Mr. Gladstone, but would not countenance sensational methods of arousing the masses, as practiced by certain Radicals.

To Celebrate the Kaiser's Coronation.

BERLIN, Oct. 15.—The approaching twenty-fifth anniversary of the coronation of the Emperor William as the king of Prussia (Oct. 18) is to be made the occasion of a remarkable celebration. The elaborate military parade will include, as a special feature, a corps composed of veterans of the wars of 1864, 1866 and 1870-71.

The Sins of War.

VIRGINIA, Oct. 15.—Seventeen million cartridges and 7,000,000 silver 5 franc pieces have arrived at Rutschuk by a vessel from Russia for Prince Alexander, of Bulgaria. The Bulgarian arsenal at Rutschuk is turning out 60,000 Berdan rifle cartridges daily.

Marriage of Longfellow's Daughter.

BOSTON, Oct. 15.—Miss Annie Longfellow, youngest daughter of the poet, was married Wednesday at the family homestead, in Cambridge, to Joseph G. Thorpe, of Eau Claire, Wis. Rev. Samuel Longfellow, the bride's uncle, performed the ceremony according to the rites of the Unitarian church. Charles N. Gregory, of Madison, Wis., and Mrs. Ole Bull stood up with the bride and groom. There was a distinguished assemblage of guests.

Those Statues Enjoined.

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., Oct. 15.—The state house commissioners have been temporarily enjoined by Judge Creighton from placing bronze figures of certain gentlemen, now known as the "Big Eight," in the dome of the state house. The case will come up at the November term. The suit was brought by D. T. Littler.

VEXED BY VINCENT.

A TERRITORIAL CHIEF JUSTICE GIVES DORSEY AN OFFICE,

And the President Rises Up and Sits Down on the Judge—Some History in the Case—Gleanings from the Capital City.

WASHINGTON CITY, Oct. 15.—W. A. Vincent, recently appointed chief justice of the supreme court of New Mexico by President Cleveland, was Wednesday suspended from office because he had appointed ex-Senator Stephen W. Dorsey, of star route trial notoriety, a member of a commission to draw grand and petit jurors for that territory. The information upon which the president acted was furnished by a resident of the territory in a communication to the attorney general. Mr. Garland promptly reported the fact to the president, and after a brief consultation upon the matter, in which the relations of Mr. Dorsey to jurymen and land claims are said to have received attention, it was decided that a justice who would intrust the selection of jurors to Dorsey ought to have an opportunity to explain his action. The president was greatly surprised as well as annoyed, Mr. Vincent had been highly recommended by Representative Springer and a large body of reputable lawyers and laymen, and it is said at the White House that few nominations have been the cause of so many congratulatory dispatches as that of Vincent's. But Vincent had a history in New Mexico which may be brought out fully through the suspension, and which may or may not make his removal a desirable one. Not long before his appointment he was a prisoner for two months for contempt of court. He was employed by parties who were fighting the Canon Del Agua Land Grant company, a company with an india rubber title. The company took possession of a lot of mining property supposed to be very valuable. The mine owners succeeded in getting the attorney general to enter action in the federal courts in New Mexico to have the claim of the land company set aside, on the ground that the patent to a large part of the land was obtained by fraud. The opponents of the land company took forcible possession of their mine. The land grant company got a mandamus, at which the miners laughed. Judge Axtell summoned the mine owners before him, and wanted to know why they had advised their clients to use force. The lawyers, Vincent among them, refused to answer, and they were all sent to jail. After a tedious imprisonment they were liberated upon a habeas corpus proceeding. So much is shown that Vincent has been concerned in land claim proceedings in the territory.

If Vincent was familiar with affairs in New Mexico he ought to have known that Dorsey has interests there, and that not the least of them are disputed land claims. In a report made to the Forty-eighth congress on fraudulent acquisitions of titles to land claims, a number of interesting affidavits concerning Mr. Dorsey and his neighbors at Chico Springs appear. Mr. Dorsey's drove yard, according to this report, was acquired in the name of Miguel Abeytia, but Inspector Frank D. Hobbs upon inquiry could not find anybody by that name or any one who had ever known Abeytia. There may be other cases in which Mr. Dorsey is interested, and to which he might have been able as a commissioner to draw jurors to select persons who would not do him injury.

Manitoba Indemnity Lands.
WASHINGTON CITY, Oct. 15.—The cancellation of the indemnity lands of the Manitoba railway is working great hardships upon settlers who have bought land from the railway in the limits canceled. The settlers number 1,200 or more, and their titles are vitiated. The law officers of the department have discovered a law that is some relief to these settlers and which provides that sufferers by the act of cancellation (which restores the land to the United States) "shall be permitted at any time within three months after such restoration, and under such rules and regulations as the commissioner of the general land office may prescribe, to purchase not exceeding 160 acres in extent of the same by legal subdivisions, at the price of $2.50 per acre, and to receive patents therefor."

Making a Chance for Sterling.
NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Collector Hedden, of the custom house, has received instructions from Washington to throw open to all citizens the competitive examination for the weighership made vacant by the suspension of Sterling, whose appointment by the collector in place of Bacon, removed, caused a great deal of discussion some time ago. The "mugwumps" held that only the foreman and assistant weighers were eligible to compete for the place. This would have excluded Sterling, but under the president's order he can now compete for the position which he once briefly held.

A Scene at the White House.
WASHINGTON CITY, Oct. 15.—At the president's public reception Wednesday afternoon, a French woman, who has shown such unmistakable signs of mental insanity that she has been kept out of the White House, appeared and demanded admission to the east room, where the reception was in progress. The sergeant of police in charge stopped her, whereupon she assaulted him, vigorously striking him in the face and making a disagreeable scene. She was finally removed by force.

Codman and the Civil Service Commission.
BOSTON, Oct. 15.—Col. Charles R. Codman was asked Wednesday whether or not President Cleveland had offered him the chairmanship of the civil service commission. He replied: "I have had conversations with the president on the subject and have given him what I consider sufficient reasons why he should not offer the position to me. The president has not made me the offer, and probably never will make it."

Exports of Cotton.
WASHINGTON CITY, Oct. 15.—The chief of the bureau of statistics reports that during the two months ended Sept. 30 last, the total value of exports of cotton aggregated $9,323,650, against $10,554,466 during a similar period in 1884. The total values of exports of breadstuffs for the nine months ended Sept. 30 last were $102,344,248, against $110,666,533 during a like period in 1884.

Quarantine Against Small-Pox.
WASHINGTON CITY, Oct. 15.—A circular has been issued by order of the president establishing a thorough quarantine against Canada, and giving to the local boards of health and sanitary inspectors all the authority of quarantine officers. Very vigorous means will be employed to prevent the spread of small-pox.

Sentenced to Be Hung.
WARREN, Ohio, Oct. 15.—A motion for a new trial in the Webster murder case was overruled Wednesday forenoon, and the verdict of murder in the first degree will hold good. Webster was later sentenced to be hanged at Columbus, Ohio, Feb. 6.

Wickedness in the Empire State.
ROCHESTER, N. Y., Oct. 15.—Mrs. Hannah Ross, who was arrested Tuesday morning on the charge of keeping a house of prostitution, was found guilty Wednesday by a jury in the police court. The testimony produced showed that Mrs. Russell had established a systematic plan of enticing young girls into her home under the pretext of giving them positions as domestics and then endeavoring to persuade them to enter a life of shame by offering large sums of money.

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The first race at Brighton Beach Wednesday was 1½ miles; Barbara first, Castilian second, Winston third; time, 2:21. Second race, 1 mile; Rico first; Jack of Hearts second, Ernest third; time, 1:48. Third race, 1½ miles; Cardinal McCloskey first, Una E. second, Jim Nave third; time, 2:01. Fourth race, 1½ miles; Ten Strike first, King B. second, Hannah third; time, 2:14½. Fifth race, ¾ mile; Aureole first, Gen. Price second, L. H. D. third; time, 1:04¾.

Mrs. Healy's Assassin.
NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The person who fatally shot Mrs. John Healy, at 206 East Forty-fourth street, Tuesday night, is supposed to be a gambler, named John Brower, who was infatuated with the woman, and had visited her during the afternoon. He had fired at the woman on account of jealousy on a previous occasion.

New York, Oct. 15.—Col. Clowry, general western manager of the Western Union company, was Wednesday elected a director in the place of Mr. Pender, of London, who recently resigned. The annual report of the company made public Wednesday shows that the company had a surplus of $14,157,468 on July 1, 1884. For the year ending June 30, 1885, the revenues of the company amounted to $17,706,833, and the expenses to $12,005,999, which deducted from the total revenues shows the net profits for 1885 to be $5,700,834. This added to the surplus fund makes it $9,858,398. After deducting disbursements for dividends, interests on bonds, and for sinking fund account, the surplus on hand June 30, 1885, amounted to $4,324,094.

THE COVERT CLAIMANTS.

Their Lawyer Tells Them of Riches Galore Which Is Theirs.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 15.—The Covert claimants of the Harlem property in New York city, held a meeting in the Home hotel in this city Wednesday. The object of the meeting was a discussion of plans of procedure, and to listen to the reports of attorneys having the matter in charge. Over seventy-five persons were present. Mr. W. E. Looy, of Spencer, Ohio, acted as chairman. Walter Shups, of New York, trustee of the syndicate, was called upon and presented the case as it now stands. He presented what, to the minds of the interested claimants, was proof positive that property worth $600,000,000 was waiting a change of ownership. He had not yet completed his statement, when the syndicate adjourned for dinner. They again assembled at 3 o'clock, continuing in session until a late hour in the evening. Most of the claimants are in fine spirits over the turn things have taken. Said Rev. W. C. Covert, of this city: "We have already gained one case involving $50,000, and we will gain the others just as easily." Several prominent New York attorneys, among others, Hon. William M. Everts, will be engaged in the case. It is said that they have given their opinion that the claimants have a good case.

The Episcopal Church Congress.
NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 15.—The tenth annual congress of the Protestant Episcopal church of the United States will be held in this city Oct. 29 to 31, in Carlin's opera house. Much interest is felt in this gathering by members of the Episcopal church and by Christian people generally. A large number of distinguished clergymen and laymen are to be in attendance, and are to speak upon the many subjects marked out for discussion. The congress is not a legislative body, being simply an association for the voluntary discussion of questions looking toward the general good of the church and to Christian progress. The writers and speakers are not delegates but simply churchmen—high or low or ritualist, as the case may be—having a single object in view. No votes on any subject under discussion are taken.

The list of writers and speakers includes many of the most prominent clergy of the Episcopal church of America. Among the number are six or seven bishops; Archdeacons Farrar and Vesey, of England, and several gentlemen well known at the bar, on the bench, in the army, and in private life.

The Rights of Labor Assembly.
HAMILTON, Ont., Oct. 15.—The assembly of the Knights of Labor closed Tuesday evening to meet in Richmond, Va., next year, on the first Monday in October. The amount of business done in nine days was immense. The boycotting of The New York Tribune and The Toronto Mail was indorsed, and "assisted immigration" and the admission of paupers and criminals on this continent from abroad were condemned. Lecturers will be employed within the next twelve months to discuss public questions in the interest of labor.

Passenger Agents in Consultation.
NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—At a meeting of the general passenger agents of the trunk lines Wednesday, it was agreed to resume the old pool system; also to establish a joint ticket agency at Castle Garden, the emigrant business, to be divided between the various roads. The rates agreed upon are: From New York and Boston to Chicago, $13; from Philadelphia, $11.75; from Baltimore, $11.35; from Montreal and Quebec, $14.50.

A Novel feature in Investments

The whole country after having undergone a period of depression is now asking itself, what business has least been affected and uninjured?

Such a business, industry or corporation, that can make a better showing now than before the crisis attracts the attention of capital, merits the confidence of investors and is being eagerly sought for.

There is such a business, and it has heretofore been monopolized by English and Scotch capital until some three hundred millions have been invested in the Ranch and Cattle business of this great country.

Foremost amongst the strongest, richest and most successful American Companies stand the United States Land and Investment Company, 145 Broadway, New York, which is now offering $500,000 First Mortgage 6% 10 Year Bonds, for subscription at 90 cash, or at par, upon a novel installment feature which appeals to the Farmer as well as the Banker, the Clerk and Mechanic as well as the Millionaire, and to all who desire to invest their savings, at better rates of interest than any bank will allow.

This Company issues certificates of indebtedness in One and Five Dollars, each representing an installment, and when the investor has purchased $50 of these certificates he becomes entitled to a $100 Gold Bond, First Mortgage, bearing 6% interest, which he can obtain upon presenting his certificates or forwarding them by letter to the Company's Office, at 145 Broadway, N. Y.

The remaining $50 due on the Bond being payable to the Company in monthly installments not exceeding $5.

The bond commences to draw interest upon delivery the same as if fully paid. In addition to which the company gives as a Bonus, Free, one fully paid up share of stock of the value of $25.

Those desiring to buy their Bonds out right for cash can do so at 10% discount in $100, $500 or $1000 Bonds and receive one, five or ten shares of stock Free. The Bonds are secured by property owned absolutely by the Company, estimated to be worth $3,000,000, and this money received from sale of Bonds will be invested in Cattle, the income from which it is estimated will yield 8% upon the stock after paying 6% on the Bonds.

Applications are being forwarded in great numbers daily, and all those who desire to subscribe should send at once for Prospectuses and full information to The United States Land Investment Company, 145 Broadway, New York.—The Financier. 824 519m3

VALUABLE DISCOVERY.

Bright's Disease, Gravel, and all Liver and Kidney Diseases, the result of Calculi or Stone composed of carbonate of lime and magnesia, etc., precipitated in the vital organs by the elimination of the carbonic acid gas from our drinking water, and vegetables, which contain these carbonates in large quantities.

UTERINE INFLAMMATION and other diseases of females have the same aggravating cause. Calculi also form in the Hepatic Duct causing derangement of the Liver and introducing a train of Stomach Diseases, as Dyspepsia, accompanied by Sour Stomach and Injurious Breath. Other results of Calculi are Pains in the Back and Limbs, Neuralgia, Rheumatism and General Lassitude accompanied by derangement of the vital and secretory organs.

These Calculi are the same (with the addition of uric acid) as the deposits found in every textbook. Calculi Resolvent disintegrates and causes them to pass away in fine particles without injury to the organs themselves, and cures the resultant disease, a result long sought by medical science, but never before attained.

WORK IN THE MISSION FIELD.

Interesting Reports to the American Board of Foreign Missions.

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 15.—At Wednesday's meeting of the American Board of Missions Rev. E. K. Alden, D. D., home secretary, reported that during the quarter century just ended the number of ordained missionaries has decreased 10 per cent., from 169 in 1860 to 151 in 1885. During the 75 years of its existence the American board has sent out 599 ordained missionaries, of whom 32 were physicians, 43 physicians unordained, and 144 other male assistants, making a total of 768 men. During the same period they have sent out 1,080 women, 303 of whom were unmarried—a total force of 1,866. This gives as the annual average for the whole period about 25 missionaries and assistant missionaries, 10 men, 8 of whom were ordained, and 15 women.

Rev. A. G. Clark, D. D., senior foreign secretary, made the following report for the 25 years just ended: Of 166 missionaries on the roll in 1860, 52 still remain and have rendered an average service of 34 years; 89 have served an average of 23 years. An interesting feature of the foreign work during the past 25 years is the enlargement of work for women. In 1860 there were 22 women connected with the different missions. A few of the wives of missionaries were attempting to do something for their sex, but no systematic work had been organized. Now there are 101 women with the different missions in charge of 40 seminaries or engaged in field work. The number of young men enjoying the advantages of higher Christian education under the immediate care of cultured women from this country amounts to nearly 1,700, while probably ten times as many more are reached in their homes by missionary ladies, and by the large number of Bible women working under their supervision.

In 25 years there has been an advance in churches from 105 to 292; of church members from 35,000 to over 23,000; of pupils in common schools from 8,000 to 35,000; of native pastors from 27 to 147, not to speak of the growth of a large and efficient body of native preachers and teachers, acting as co-laborers in the evangelization of their people.

By a singular coincidence there has been on the average a five-fold increase during the years in the aggregate of results in the following lines of effort:

In the breadth of the field, counting towns, cities and islands actually occupied; in the number of church members, of pastors, of high schools, seminaries and colleges, and in the contributions of native Christians toward the support of their own institutions.

At the afternoon session of the board, Dr. Hopkins being absent, Rev. A. C. Thompson, of Roxbury, called the meeting to order. The first incident was a paper from Rev. Albert B. Cunt, of London, read by Rev. Thompson. He was followed by W. W. Rankin, treasurer of the Presbyterian foreign missionary board, and others. In the evening the desire to hear Dr. Storrs was so great that the crush was tremendous. At 7 o'clock Dr. Hopkins called the meeting to order, and Professor Barbour, of Yale, offered prayer. Rev. R. S. Storrs, D. D., then delivered an address upon "The Prospective Advance of Christian Missions, Suggested by Present Lines of Movement in Christendom."

Cowardly Assault.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 15.—Shortly after 10 o'clock Wednesday morning Mr. James Gamble, a well-known sporting-man, while walking down Valley street on his way to the races, was approached from behind by Edward Weber, an ex-deputy sheriff, and stabbed five times in the side and once in the hip. Gamble was removed to his home and is in a critical condition. An old grudge was the cause of the assault.

No Chinese Competition.

BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 15.—At the National Laundrymen's convention just closed here a resolution was adopted condemning the presence of Chinese in this country. Committees were appointed on grievances and to decide upon the best plan for a model laundry. The convention adjourned to meet in Cincinnati on the second Monday in October, 1886.

BURDETT-COUTTS.

VISITING THE BARONESS AT HER HOME NEAR LONDON.

Her Personal Appearance and Leading Characteristics—Holly Lodge and Its Furnishings—Pets and Their Portraits—The Young Husband.

[London Cor. New York Sun.]

To Americans, the Baroness Burdett-Coutts has always been a person of singular interest. Her wealth, her generous benefactions, and romantic nature all appear to us, for our sensibilities are doubtless keener and finer than those of the English.

At one of the very last receptions of the season, sitting somewhat apart in a fashionable drawing room, I saw a slight stir and then everybody arose to their feet. There was not that quiet and obsequiousness in the attitude which are shown to royalty, but a voluntary and almost affectionate respect. The hostess advanced with smiling face, and said, "How good of you, baroness," and the hum of conversation was resumed again. Songs were sung by a great singer, and recitations delivered by a well-known comic actor, and the most interested and amused face—the most enjoying face in all the assembly—was that of the Baroness Burdett-Coutts.

PERSONAL APPEARANCE.

When the people thinned out a little and I had an opportunity of talking with her, she stormed my heart. She has a very small, sweet face, deep blue eyes, soft, dark brown hair, without a gray thread in it, and her complexion, free from all artificialities, is perfectly fresh and healthy. Her manner is very quiet, simple and unassuming, and she is an excellent and sympathizing listener. We made famous headway together, and she said she would be happy to receive us on Saturday at her place near London, Holly Lodge.

It is a lovely drive to the Lodge past some of the model dwellings and through green lanes. We were met by a footman and asked if we had an appointment with "my lady." We said no, but gave our cards, and a short walk on inland marble brought us to a long room covered with matting and draped in red and white bunting. The large, French windows close together opened to the ground, and wicker work chairs, tables, and settees of every conceivable shape and design furnished the room. At the back was a line of cases filled with geological specimens, all labeled and numbered in the neatest manner. This room opened into a small, light, well-filled conservatory, and this again communicated with the drawing-room. Such a pretty, quaint, restful, old-fashioned room it was. A carpet with a white ground, strewn with roses, covered the floor; the furniture was encased in bright, fresh, flowered chintz. Several uncovered chairs, in dainty embroidery, bore on their faces loving gifts to the owner.

A large photograph of a beautiful and distinguished lady in a gilt frame hung close to the door, and on the white margin, in a careful, pretty hand was written: "Miss Coutts, from her friend Sophia" (queen of the Netherlands). The grand piano in the center was covered by an immense and very ugly piece of fancy work. The facings of cloth used in the soldiers' uniforms were shaped in small diamonds and sewn together; red, black, blue, yellow, lilac, green, all topped against each other in the most fantastic manner. This, too, was doubtless a gift from grateful hands to the ever open-hearted owner. Large looking-glasses and many pictures covered the light walls, and tables laden with priceless bric-a-brac stood here and there about the room. On one was a beautiful specimen of Belluk china, a rose-tinted shell resting on the graceful necks of three swans.

PETS AND PICTURES.

We had waited fifteen minutes when the baroness appeared. She had been some distance in the garden, and had walked hurriedly, so her cheeks were flushed with exercise and her eyes were bright with health. She seemed unaffectedly glad to see us, and, after a few moments' conversation, said she must show us a little more of her house. The billiard-room was large, and delightfully arranged. The wall pictures were especially interesting to a lover of animals. All the baroness' pets, done by famous artists, adorn the walls. Cows, birds, cockatoos, dogs, donkeys, and sheep live amicably together. Upon the mantelpiece is a singular-looking black dog with an almost white head. "Yes," the baroness said, "he was very strange in appearance, and very accomplished. My sister bought him from some German players. One of his tricks was taking a red-hot coal in his mouth, and his teeth were quite worn down." He had a heroic face, a square jaw, and intense eyes that spoke of past suffering. It is pleasant to think of his last days, prosperous and happy, with nothing harder to do than to carry a lady's dainty beaded bag in his poor scarred mouth.

"Ben," a small fox terrier, that had not left the baroness' side, listened jealously to the conversation, for he sneaked away, and presently triumphantly returned, carrying a round white stone in his mouth. The baroness says her friends frequently send their pets to her when ill or troublesome, for she is as kind to animals as to humanity.

CHARACTERISTICS.

In the second drawing room there are some wonderful pale aquamarine windows, with graceful etchings on them of draped and rounded female figures; the hangings are all of the same pale tint, and the whole room is a suggestion of the earliest and tenderest spring days. Out of this room is a fernery, and then into the garden, where we had tea in the beautiful old-fashioned flowered china. Her gardens she loves. The flower beds are more unstudied than ours—roses, pinks, geraniums, lilies, larkspurs, all jostle each other.

There was a great political discussion going on, in which the baroness was animated and interested; like every true woman, she looks at her husband's opponent from a purely personal view. Mr. Burdett-Coutts was away laying a corner stone or opening a railway. She speaks of him with a sureness that indicates the complete congeniality between them. Indeed, she is a woman whose age no man or woman would stop to consider. Intelligent and conversant with a great variety of subjects, she has gotten the best that life affords, for she has always busy and kind and useful. Her intensely occupied mind has taken no notice of time, so time has passed her lightly by, going on to tease those women who watch with heart-breaking anxiety for crows' feet.

Vitality of Seeds.

[Exchange.]

The Michigan Agricultural college people are testing the vitality of seeds buried in sealed bottles six years ago. The seeds which thus far prove to have most vitality are those of common weeds, their percentage being from 90 to 100, while plant seed did not germinate freely.

It is a curious fact that since the dark ages Lord Salisbury is the first bearded prime minister.

FORTUNE-FAVORED.

HOW JOHN JACOB ASTOR LAID THE FOUNDATION OF HIS WEALTH.

Bonanza Mackey as an Investor—A Fortunate Permit—Mrs. Mackey's Annual Expenditures in Paris—The Old Man Talks.

[New York Graphic.]

Speaking of John Jacob Astor the first, I can not help realizing the memory of conversations I have heard between him and my father when I was a boy.

"People think," said the old man, "that I have had an easy time of it, but that's a mistake. My early life was a hard struggle, and even my own brother refused to lend me money."

This brother was a butcher named Henry, pretty well off, with a stall in the Bare market—or Bear market as it got to be afterward called—and writhed under John Jacob's borrowings. One day, when the latter went to him for $200, Henry said: "John, I'll willingly give you $100 if you will promise me that you will never come to me again to borrow."

"I closed with the offer at once, and took the money," said Astor, laughing heartily.

I have heard him tell how he got his first start in life. He kept his store in Peck Slip, and there bought furs, almost any that were offered him, until he had a stock packed away that he could not realize on. What to do he did not know, but consulting with his wife, as he always did about everything, the conclusion was that he should go to London and sell them himself. This was carried out, and John Jacob carried his furs to London and made a good thing of it. While there, and wandering over the great city, he came across what was known as the East India House or Company, and recognized a name as chief of it as one familiar. He sought him and found a schoolmate in his native place in Germany. His schoolmate did not repudiate him, but tried to do everything he could to make Astor feel that he wanted to serve him, and, among the rest when he was leaving gave him a permit for a ship to trade in the China seas. John Jacob laughed at the gift, but took it, and had almost forgotten its possession, when one day something he heard made him go to a merchant named Livermore and propose that he find capital to fit out a ship and use the permit, and they should share the result. Livermore, at first rejecting the proposal, afterward accepted it, and the voyage was successfully undertaken, and from it Astor realized $50,000. Then he took the permit and fitted out a vessel himself and laid the foundation of his enormous fortune. John Jacob never denied that he owed his success in a large measure to the fact that he always consulted with his wife, whom I remember as a clear-headed, practical woman.

The illicit distillers of Franklin county, Georgia, have begun a war upon law-abiding citizens whom they suspect of having informed upon them. A young man who testified for the government in several cases has been ordered to leave the county or take the consequences.

Officers of the secret service raided a camp of eleven counterfeiters in Clarion county, Pennsylvania, capturing six of them, who were taken to Pittsburgh and committed for trial. The others escaped into the woods. The gang has been extensively engaged in manufacturing and circulating spurious silver dollars.

Excitement has been caused in Louisville by the exposure of an alleged scheme, to which the mayor and other municipal officials are said to be parties, to rush an ordinance through the council giving a subsidy of $1,000,000 to the Louisville Southern railroad, without submitting the question to a popular vote or complying with the general charter.

Mike's Other Gait.

[Harper's Bazar.]

In a down-town restaurant much frequented by bankers and brokers is a surly old Irishman, a waiter, who never by any chance makes a straightforward answer. To plague him, two customers pretended to disagree as to his nationality, and finally one of them referred the matter to him.

"What nationality is yours, Mike?" said the customer. "Are you French or Irish?" "Sure," said the old man, "no nation is a quarrelling over me."

Once, when he was especially grumpy, he gave feeble expression to his ill temper by moving so slowly about his work that he may be said to have crawled.

"Have you no other gait than that, Mike?" a customer inquired.

"Indeed I have, sir," said Mike; "but it's slower than this."

Wanted to Become a Citizen.

[Chicago Herald.]

There was submitted to the commissioner of Indian affairs a request from a Kiowa Indian studying at Lincoln university, Pennsylvania, to be admitted to citizenship. He was informed in reply that it could be done only by some act of the general government. The fact that Indians are born in the country does not make them citizens.

A Chronological Abbreviation.

The abbreviation "Cir," used in chronology, means about; as, for instance, Cir. 1010, A. D.; about 1010, A. D. The word is from the Latin "Circum," meaning around.

Spontaneous Combustion.

In twenty-seven cases of cause of fires reported in New York, the flames burst spontaneously from piles of rags or rubbish, fifteen of the piles being oily rags.

His Chest Notes.

[Boston Commercial Bulletin.]

"Is the musical critic in? My name is 'Ig-gins. I have just arrived from Henglan, and am about to sing 'ere. I would like to 'ave you mention in your notice my chest notes—" Here the umpire of the concert-room glared at him and growled: "Cheer-up! O, you want to see the funny man over in the dark corner there."

A Business Man's Foxy.

[New York Times.]

"There goes a man," said a gentleman at Monmouth park, "who has lost a great deal of money this season through picking out the wrong horse. It's a pity, too. He has a fine business, and would do well if he would let betting alone."

"What is his business?"

"He sells 'tips' on the races."
